As Jennifer Love Hewitt gets closer to a day delivery with her second child, the Criminal Minds actress feels as great as she did during her first and second trimesters. She spends her last days of pregnancy doing what she usually does: cleaning, working, spending time with her young daughter Autumn and shooting commercials for Palmer. Parents got a chance to catch up with an American baby may mom moment and soon to be a second time mom. Parents.com: How does this pregnancy differ from your pregnancy in autumn? JLH: This time I'm chasing around a 17-month-old rather than enjoying a relaxing spa appointment during my first. And there's a different person than the first time. Parents.com: Is Autumn delighted with the idea of a younger brother or sister? JLH: She's glad I have a matching belly with her. She doesn't have a small baby, and I have a little gut. But I don't think she really has any idea what's going on. Parents.com: Are there any specific moments - good, bad or ugly - during this pregnancy that have branded you? JLH: It was really cool. It's amazing how much you forget after your first pregnancy is over, it feels like this familiar thing when you're back in it. You forget about other things and then it just happens again. Parents.com: Do you feel more confident about what to expect when it comes to Labour this time? JLH: No, because I keep hearing that they're all different. It may even be a little more challenging this time. For the first time, you seem to be worse than anything you've ever felt before, and this time, I know what it really is. You get through it though, and what you get on the other side makes it so worthwhile. Parents.com: What is the best or worst parenting advice you've ever received? JLH: A lot of people choose not to give advice. I was surprised because I had this list of interview-style questions ready to ask any parent, and many of them said, 'You know what, you'll find out for yourself - your child will be your child, your experience will be your experience. Now that as a parent, I know why they didn't give me advice - every experience is so unique. There are no rules. Some babies are colic, some are not. Some parents sleep with ease, others worry all night. Parents are so lucky, so enjoy it and explode. You will write your own book with your own parental advice. Parents.com: How do you take care of your skin during pregnancy? Do you have any pregnancy skincare tips to share with other moms to be? JLH: I really love Lotion Palmer's Massage for stretch marks and skin oil therapy. It makes me feel like I have a bit of control over something that you really don't have control over. I decided that if I it's a routine to use your products in the morning and night, I'd probably have great results, and I did. I didn't get stretch marks, and I felt very confident throughout my first pregnancy, I wore this time I felt confident enough to bare my stomach too. This accentuated shade of her colorist calls a sunny brunette. Showcasing Hewitt's new look on Instagram, her hairdresser Nikki Lee wrote: 'I know what you did last summer... but this summer we're doing Sunny Brunette. (Get it?) What is a solar brunette exactly? As you can see, while The base of Hewitt's hair is chocolate color, it now has light, caramel highlights running throughout. If this color looks familiar to you, it was only late last month that Lee dyed actress Lea Michele's hair with a similar effect, leaving her chocolate-brown hair with sun-kissed highlights. Longtime brunette Bella Hadid recently bleached her hair, too, leaving her with bordery blonde strands from root to tip. On Hewitt's Instagram, she debuted in a new colour with the caption, explaining that she's just 'ready for spring and change'. And now, like us. Less than a month after buying a brand new $6 million Cape Cod-style residence in Pacific Palisades, Jennifer Love Hewitt has listed her other home in the same area for $4.199 million. According to the Los Angeles Times, Hewitt has owned the house in a modern style since 2013, when she bought it for $3.25 million. Built in 2007, the listed home consists of four bedrooms and four-and-a-half bathrooms scattered across 5,634 square feet of living space, with a distinctive exterior featuring wooden siding panels and a corner roof. Frozen glass railings add to the chic modern aesthetic. Inside, the open floor plan has high ceilings and a combination of wood, glass and steel building materials. Hardwood floors throughout, with a sleek, modern fireplace anchoring the living room space. The chef's kitchen boasts stainless steel appliances and a marble combined breakfast bar and a central island. Patterned wallpaper is a theme throughout the house, and adds a touch of color and texture to an otherwise minimalist space. The master suite on the second floor boasts its own balcony, as well as an impressive dressing room with floor-to-ceiling cabinets. The spa master bathroom has a double fuss and a minimalist deeply soaking bathroom set under a large picture window. Behind is a waterfall, an outdoor fireplace and a small swimming pool. Hewitt's new Cape Cod is a little bigger, measuring about 6,300 square feet and with six bedrooms and six-and-a-half bathrooms. While Jennifer Love Hewitt's thin bangs were a breakthrough I know what you did last summer, since starring in the classic horror film of the 90s, the actress continues to her gaze. She did everything from blondes to try out a ton of brunette shades, experimenting with different lengths, and so many different styles of bangs in between. In 2020, it doesn't seem to have changed much when it comes to trying out new looks. And the actress proved it as she prepares for spring, refreshing her signature chocolate brown hair with a fresh blunt brow haircut and some caramel highlights that her colorist calls love lights (Get it?). For a big reveal, her new cut was styled under loose beach waves that reveal her colourful golden tones. Hewitt's caramel glare looks like a classic balayage, a coloring technique where the highlights are hand-painted on the hair. The color starts soft on the scalp and gradually becomes thicker towards the ends of the hair. Spring and summer are usually the months when we naturally want to be lighter and brighter, reflecting the sun being longer, as well as the beach a few days, Michelle O'Connor, stylist of the salon InStyle Inside JCPenney previously told InStyle. Balayage tends to mimic what the sun will do naturally. Hewitt also shared her new colour as she kissed the sun in an Instagram video. In her post, she says she was ready for new changes after wrapping filming season three of her hit TV show 9-1-1. RELATED: Selena Gomez Super Curly Shag is her most dramatic haircut Yet a new look and new vibes! I feel ready for joy, light, love, fun and stupid energy. Asking the universe around me to make space for me and those I love to feel irreconcilable joy and gratitude, she captioned the post. Hewitt's new cut and color, along with a positive outlook, is the spring vibe we can all get behind.
